BSU students shot, suspect in custody

The bodies of two former BSU students were found last Tuesday. Robert Welker, 23, and James Riplinger, 25, were found in the front room of a small house at 503 1/2 South 15th. Both men died of gunshot wounds, Ada County Coroner, Steve Jablonski said. The deaths occurred sometime last weekend.

A suspect, Terry T. Potter, 23, turned himself over to Kootenai County Sheriff's deputies in Coeur d' Alene. Potter, who has family in Coeur d' Alene, returned there and contacted his father and a lawyer, who then contacted the sheriff's department.

Potter was returned to Boise Wednesday and arraigned in 4th District Court on charges of murder. No bond was set.

An acquaintance of Welker and Riplinger said that Potter had been a roommate of Welker while the two had attended BSU.

Welker, who graduated from BSU last June was a Senator from the School of Business in the 1974-75 school year. "He was always at the senate meetings, and always voted, and he was pretty active in the school of Business," said Ron O'Halloran.

Riplinger, who had attended BSU for two years, had lived with Welker since the first of March.

Psychologist to lecture on disturbed children

Dr. Ivar Lovaas, psychologist and professor at UCLA, will speak on the "Psychological Treatment for Severely Disturbed Children" March 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the Boise State University Student Union Building.

The Ada County Mental Health Association and the BSU Association for Student social Workers are sponsoring this program, which should be of interest to the general public, parents and teachers of emotionally disturbed children, and the professional community.

Dr. Lovaas is noted for his work with autistic children. He is presently teaching a course covering recent developments in psychology at the Sun Valley Center for the Arts and Humanities.

Tickets will be available at the door.

1976-77 cold-drill seeks authors

Short stories, poems and essays by students, faculty, and staff are being solicited for the 1976-1977 issue of the cold-drill. Authors interested in submitting their writings should observe the following:

1. Handwritten manuscripts are acceptable; typed manuscripts are appreciated.
2. Authors should submit xerox or carbon copies of their work--not originals.

3. All manuscripts should have the name and mailing address of the author in the upper right hand corner.

4. There are no minimum or maximum manuscript length requirements; quality is the only criteria.

5. Manuscripts are not returned unless accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped return envelope.

To insure notification of acceptance or rejection, authors should enclose a self-addressed, stamped return envelope.

otherwise, only those authors whose work is accepted for publication will be notified.

6. All manuscripts submitted for consideration are numbered and have author's names removed when considered for publication by student editors. Selection, then, is on the basis of excellence, not personality, kinship, or bribe.

7. Notification of selection is made late Fall semester.

8. Publication in the cold-drill entitles the author to one free copy of the magazine and fame. If you are interested in submitting your work for publication consideration, please bring your work to the English Department Secretary in LA 120A, or mail it the the cold-drill, c/o Department of English, Boise State University, Boise, Idaho, 83725.

A few copies of this year's edition of the cold-drill remain on sale, exclusively, at the BSU Bookstore. Price is $.97 per copy.

FAB to consider budget requests for ASB

The Financial Advisory Board (FAB) will be hearing budget requests of various ASBSU Departments and student organizations every Wednesday at 5:15 p.m. Check the TV screen in the SUB for the meeting room. The future agenda of the FAB is:

- March 31-Broadcast Board and Les Bois
- April 7-Student Services, Arbiter, and Student Union Programs Board
- April 14- Administrative budget, Election Board and Public Relations

April 21- Service Awards and finalizing the budget.

If you are concerned where approximately $200,000 of your student fees are to be allocated, please attend the FAB meeting or contact the following FAB members: Ron Buchanan, Jerry Michaelson, Lenny Hertling, Sylvia Scribner, Mary Jane Jorgensen, Chuck White, Doug Bender and Bob Naugler.

'Creative collegiate humor journalistic excellence'

As is evident, the Arbiter is delving into a heretofore unknown realm this week, that which we facetiously call "creative collegiate humor." This issue was by far the most interesting and yet difficult to do. And if it is well received, we might be prevailed upon to do another.

This is a lampoon, in the finest tradition of Harvard, which has a lampoon paper over 100 years old. Since so much work did go into this piece of "journalistic excellence" (courtesy of the Idaho Argonaut), we think it only appropriate to thank the many people who helped make it possible:

Journalism: hottest subject in the nation but where are the jobs?

by Bill McGraw

(CPS)--"A lead." The white-haired professor catches his breath as he creaks across the classroom in front of 35 eager students. He has one foot in his dotage, the other on a banana peel. He recalls the night they nabbed Dillinger like it was yesterday but hasn't been in a newspaper's city room since Korea. He has, however, written a book on the press in Australia. "This semester," he harumphs, "we will learn to write leads."

This is a scene taking place in a rapidly increasing number of classrooms all across the country. Observers cite several reasons for it but one thing is certain: journalism has blown home-ec and education off the map and has taken their places as the current "in" academic pursuit.

Enrollment in journalism schools this year is pegged at 64,000 hopeful students, a mind-boggling 481 per cent increase since 1960, The Wall Street Journal reports. Since 1970 the enrollment increase has jumped 93 per cent; from 1974 to '75 it was 16.5 per cent and educators see no end in sight.

From "the largest school of communications in the universe" as Dean Wayne Danielson calls the University of Texas School of Communication, to one room departments with nary enough typewriters to go around, students are tapping out enough stories each day to fill a dozen Sunday New York Times. "I've been interviewed so many times I can't see straight," says a businessman from Columbia, Missouri, home of the University of Missouri, the nation's oldest journalism school. "I think we're suffering from a journalism glut."

School officials give various explanations for the journalistic upsurge. Vocational training, the glamor of the Woodward-Bernstein caper and the chance for personal involvement in ones career are ones that are heard most often. Some experts say that people are simply looking at journalism as a "class" profession for the first time. "We're getting a new kind of young person," explains Edward Bassett, director of USC's journalism school. "Journalism is now attracting the kind of student who would have entered law or medicine in the past."

Whatever the reasons for all the students, everyone seems to agree that most of them are in for a rude awakening when they graduate. When it comes to journalism jobs, all the news is bad. A recent survey by the Newspaper Fund discovered only 62.4 per cent of '74 journalism grads were able to grab a position in either newspapers, advertising or public relations. The outlook for the future is worse, the Fund found, with 20,000 journalism grads in 1978 chasing only 5,600 media-related openings.

Most major news organizations are doing very little hiring these days. The Washington Post, where reporters with four years experience earn $24,700 a year, had 1,000 applications for 15 summer internships this year and will only be taking on 10 new reporters and editors in 1976. A Wall Street Journal editor says he has a three year supply of "hot prospects"; editors at news magazines, radio and TV stations try to hide their smiles when queried about employment.

The job crunch is not leaving students unscathed, journalism school deans say. "In 1969, journalism students were an uproarious group," recalls Elie Abel, Dean of the top-ranked Columbia School of Journalism. "The class of 1976 is quite different: enormously businesslike, sober and hard working." Danielson, the Texas Sean, agrees. The "half hearted" students are gone, he says, and "the new crop is very interested in academics. They're attentive, good students who turn things in on time and faculty has not adjusted to this."

In the meantime, with all the added student baggage, journalism schools are finding themselves in the unfamiliar light of harsh scrutiny. Academics are asking if journalism is really the academic discipline it purports to be or rather a skill to be picked up on the job. Professors are griping about students who can't write or spell, students complain about grizzled old pros teaching "Front Page" style journalism in the era of Video Display Terminals and, cruelest blow of all, some editors are questioning the worth of a BJ degree in any case.

"I and most other editors I know, would rather hire a reporter who knows something about something--economics, history, literature, political science, physics, anything--than a kid who can say 'who, what, where, why, when and how' but otherwise has an empty mind," says Molly Ivins, co-editor of the Texas Observer.

"Provided a kid is bright and can write, a good city editor can teach her (or him) everything she needs to know about newspaper writing in six weeks," she continued. "Qualities of mind are more important than knowing a pica pole from a pig's eye."

Student apathy at Boise State

Editor, the ARBITER

For as long as anyone can remember, apathy has been condemned as the overriding concern in student government at BSU. And now we have been offered a complete apathy slate in the form of Jim Crawford and gets you elected at Boise State.

Realistic issues in this campaign have been the exclusive province of the Lenny Hertling-Kim Silva ticket.

Mike Hoffman for ASBSU president and vice-president. Never before has anyone talked so much and said so little. That's understandable considering the practice Crawford and Hoffman had in the Senate this year. Their campaign thus far has consisted almost exclusively of littering the campus with yellow flyers in the great tradition of Jim Arkoosh. Hoffman's strongest issue has been his smile and Crawford's has been his nickname. Those few issues they do mention could have been handled in the same senate they served so incompetently in. Experience, unfortunately, has shown that smiling big and dropping names

Wynkoop comments on 'corny' endorsements

Editor, the ARBITER

There is nothing quite so corny as the articles that appear in the Arbiter annually supporting the illustrations candidates for office. However, I feel strongly enough about one candidate that I don't care if I sound corny. This candidate is Mike Hoffman and he is running for Vice-President.

I have served with Mike on the ASBSU Senate, the student Academic Affairs Committee (which Mike chaired), and the Faculty Standards Committee. I have noticed that Mike is a very hard worker who takes student government seriously and seems to always have the time to do what needs getting done. He is also able to work with people very well, gaining the respect of faculty and administrators as well as that of students.

I feel that we should utilize the great potential of this individual and I therefore encourage people to cast their ballot for him.

Thief steals drawing from BSU SUB

A thief with an eye for art and a hand for larceny stole a pen and ink drawing valued at $1,000 from the Student Union Building at Boise State University, Boise police reported Thursday.

The theft occurred between 7 p.m. Wednesday and 7:30 a.m.

Thursday when the drawing of Devil's Tower National Monument was taken from the Boisean Lounge of the SUB, police said.

The picture, which belonged to the U.S. Department of the Interior, was in a silver frame.

speak in vague terms of "more lobbying". Hertling and Silva have set goals for their efforts, including more classroom and library space and a new fieldhouse for basketball games, concerts and the like. Crawford and Hoffman make no mention of programs designed to benefit the student. Hertling and Silva have drawn up and offered programs to increase funding to the Programs Board (for films, coffeehouses, lectures, etc.), to initiate a "Student Advisors Program" and to purchase the Outdoor Activities Center, all at no increase in student fees.

More dangerous than the issues they hedge are the issues Hoffman and Crawford never mention. The Athletic budget for both men and women's sports has been ignored. Why? Alcohol on campus, parking, alienation from student government of Greeks, minorities, clubs, religious organizations, Vo-tech, health Sciences and music students remain untouched by Hoffman and Crawford. Why? Don't they care or are their views so unpopular they dare not mention them? Is this their idea "for a government that does more than stress responsibility and balance"? If it is, I for one want no part of it. As far as I'm concerned, Crawford and Hoffman can sit on the planter outside the Vo-tech annex and gaze fondly into each other's eyes until hell freezes over. If Crawford's and Hoffman's grins can get them elected, then BSU will be getting exactly what it deserves, a U of Lealiber administration.

Beware People! If you recently purchased stereo components at Sound World's "Earthquake" Sale, look to see that what you bought is what you got! I bought a Garrard 440 turntable and they sent me home with a Garrard 42 (they even wrote up a sales slip for a 420), which is last year's model. Minutes later, over the phone, the sales person told me that the two models were the same, except for the base. Bullshit! They looked pretty nervous when the 42 was returned for the 440 and they have reason to be!

'Gochmour OK type person, but...'

Editor, the ARBITER

I would like to respond to Senator Gochmour's anti-day care letter in your March 22 issue. I know Mr. Gochmour, as I have had a couple of classes with him and consider him an OK type person. But that doesn't mean that I credit him with any sensibility in weighing the priorities of spending ASB funds. His letter showed the typical qualities of the conservative politician I believe him to be: short-sighted logic, a perverted weighing of values, and a "to-hell-with-everybody-else, I-support-me" attitude. His arguments are so absurd I don't know where to begin. He says that children are the responsibility of the parents alone and he shouldn't have to pay for their "babysitting" since he "wasn't involved in making" them. It's clear that Gochmour is purely reward oriented. Since he has no concern for the general welfare of the larger community maybe if he realized that the educational quality of BSU would be enhanced by having a day-care on campus. What an ideal lab situation for the social work, psychology, sociology, and education departments.

His dig at the low number of 30 children "at any one time" to be cared for discounts the reality that most students who are also parents do not attend class all day long so within the day, the turnover of children would be high enough to provide day-care for many times the 30-at-one-time figure. Mr. G. says that the program is not open to all students and that "we non-parents will gain nothing". As another "non-parent", with slim likelihood of that status changing while still a student, I'd point out how easily (and surprisingly) a student can cruise along glibly as a "non-parent" and right in the middle of a well plotted out academic career learn that that status is about to change. Should that student be forced by circumstances to drop out of school? I would suggest that any student who has not taken a vow of celibacy till graduation should want a campus day-care as a quite cheap form of education insurance. Perhaps Mr. G. has taken this vow. At any rate, I would caution; Doug you may never be a father but you most certainly are already a mother.

Senate Report

Alcohol suit, radio station discussed

by George Nells

The Senate passed a motion at the beginning of the session Thursday setting an arbitrary closing time for the day. Motions and resolutions were passed in the one hour period at such a rate as to bring smiles of disbelief to the faces of hardened Senate observers.

Nate Kim, ASB President, told the senate that a brief of the alcohol suit filed March 17 could be found in the executive offices of the ASB. Kim said the suit asks for "declaratory relief" from the present restrictions of the State Board of Education policy.

Gary McCabe of the Broadcast Board informed the senate that by the fall of 1976 the FM radio station should be completed and have a one year permit to operate. He said there would be "a lot of things you don't hear on commercial stations. More of an album program."

Mike Hoffman, Senator School of Arts and Science, told the Senate that the Faculty Senate had passed a resolution calling for collective wage bargaining. The collective would include all members of the faculty.

Hoffman also said that the graduation certificates might be a week late this year. The Senate then passed a resolution demanding that the process be speeded up.

$6,614 was allocated by the Senate to fund the remaining spring activities of the Student Union Programs Board. Dave Wynkoop and Howard Welch voted against the measure.

The constitution for the BSU Bronco Promenaders passed the Senate.

A resolution introduced by Lenny Hertling calling for a new music building passed. Another resolution introduced by Jim Crawford asking for lights to be erected around the Towers parking lot passed.

Howard Welch submitted a resolution which would ask for the investigation of a BSU comprehensive recycling program. The program would require the sorting of paper, aluminum, glass and any other solid wastes which could be recycled into usable products. Other than the benefits of recycling reusable wastes, the program would be seen as a demonstration project for other states, and as a way of commemorating Earth Day 1976. The resolution passed.

A resolution which would give each registering student the option of earmarking fifty cents of their $17 dollar ASBSU fee to go for the establishing of a Women's Center was tabled Tuesday. The center would be similar to the Varsity Center. Sue McKenna said that the option would be "A very democratic way of doing it." No compulsion would be involved and the people who wished to use the center could then support it.

Lenny Hertling said that "it's about time we got something like this." Welsh observed that if the funds were set aside, then presumably next year's senate could recognize a suitable group to deal with the center.

Welsh introduced a motion asking for the amending of the ASBSU constitution. The bill would change the wording of the document to state that only ASBSU fee paying students would be eligible to receive benefits derived from those fees. As the constitution now reads any full time student is eligible to receive ASBSU benefits. The amendment passed the first reading and in the following weeks will be read two more times before being passed. The other readings will allow the Senate time to fix any problems inherent in the change.

Gleaning pillar of constancy in a changing world, the design of the schooner is lost back in the dim past of Scandinavian glass craftsmanship. Until 1895, it remained nameless, when Australian sailors adopted it as the regulation beer quantity for young seamen (A 3/4 pint mug was too much, a 1/2 pint glass too little.) So the wasp-waist, bottom-heavy taw-glass was christened with the name of a ship midway between a cutter and a frigate.

The schooner hasn't changed a lot. And neither has Olympia Beer. It's still made with premium ingredients and a heritage of brewing experience that never changes. A great beer doesn't change. Olympia never will.

Spring football

Boise State's new head football coach Jim Criner is like a man who buys a car, opens the door, puts the key into the ignition, turns it and really doesn't know what will happen. The new Bronco grid mentor will have his first opportunity to see how his "vehicle" runs on Monday, March 29, when the BSU Broncos take to the field for the first spring football session. The drills will conclude on May 1 with the annual Alumni Game.

Criner said that he and his staff would hold practices on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. The only Saturday sessions for the Broncos will be on April 17 with a 9 a.m. intrasquad game and on May 1, the day of the Alumni Game.

"I don't feel that there is any pressure on me or the team as we begin the spring ball and look forward to the 1976 season. You win or you don't win, no matter where you are," he added. He has 32 lettermen returning from last year's Big Sky Conference Championship team.

Criner said that the BSU coaching staff has established three goals for the spring ball session. The first goal is to evaluate every player on the team. "Each and every player will get an equal amount of coaching. We'll have film work and controlled contact so we can evaluate everyone," Criner said.

The second goal, he explained, will be to build a sound fundamental base of techniques within the framework of what they want to do on offense, defense and in the kicking game.

The third goal for the Broncos will be to experiment and find the total range of the athletes, and to get them placed in the proper positions. Criner will be installing an "I" formation offensively for the Broncos and will also use the split back concept. Defensively BSU will have a base "50" defense.

BEATLES UPDATE.Ringo Starr became the 2nd Beatle to defect from the Capitol/Apple labels by signing a deal putting his U.S. releases on Atlantic..Meanwhile, "authoritative" sources are still serving up conflicting reports about that possible Beatles reunion concert, some saying "never", and others saying it's definitely on. Their hairdressers probably don't even know for sure..What is on for sure is a Paul McCartney/Wings U.S. tour, as well as a new LP which might already be out as you read this..Meanwhile, the latest Rolling Stone chronicles separate legal hassles involving John Lennon and George Harrison..For a defunct band, the Beatles sure don't lack for attention (including ours).

ODDS 'N' ENDS.Johnny Cash will headline a summer country music TV show for CBS..The Captain & Tennille are also slated for a summer TV shot..Mike Bloomfield is officially out of KGB's tour plans, presumably as a result of his public expressions of dissatisfaction with their "supergroup" concept..Seattle's King Dome covered stadium opens with Paul Anka, Bill Cosby, Anne Murray, the Pointer Sisters, and the Hudson Bros. April 3..Personnel changes for Focus, with replacements for Jan Akkerman and Colin Allen..Carly Simon's next album is being produced by Ted Templeman, best known for his work with the Doobie Bros..Led Zeppelin's concerts at Madison Square Garden in 1974 were filmed and are being edited into a 2 hour movie for theater release in the fall, along with a soundtrack LP.

ALBUM NEWS.April 15th is the reported release date for both the new Neil Sedaka and Rolling Stones albums..Also watch for new LP's from the Sons of Champlin (April) and Roberta Flack, Rod Stewart, and Aretha Franklin (May)..Herbie Hancock is about to start work on a summer release..Other artists working on new albums include Paul Desmond, the Average White Band, Blue Oyster Cult, Ambrosia, James Cotton, and Danny (3 Dog Night) Hutton..Meanwhile, it looks like late April or May for the new Stevie Wonder album, delayed for the umpteenth time.

OLD RADIO SHOW LP's are a goldmine for people who remember them from years ago and for those who weren't around then and enjoy hearing how it was. We've recently received shipments including outstanding shows and stars, some at bargain prices on both LP's and tapes.

DON'T MISS THESE BARGAINS! We always carry a huge selection of $1.99 and $2.99 LP's and tapes, but the real goodies come and go, depending on what is available from our sources of supply. This month, we got NEW CATALOGS from all our suppliers and we had a field day ordering some of the best selections we've seen in quite awhile. The first several shipments have now arrived and there are dozens and dozens of titles we've never had before at these prices. Since many are one or two-of-a-kind, you should come in soon for the best selection. There are items in every category, including jazz, rock, country, and easy listening, on LP's, 8 tracks, cassettes, and reel-to-reel tapes. Altogether, we've ordered over 750 LP's and 600 tapes, and over half are already here. For the super bargain hunter, we even found some more major label LP's to sell at 66 cents, and there are clearance specials at 1/2 or more off the original bargain prices.

ABOUT THE MUSICWORKS.Our singles sales are up considerably, apparently the result of people not finding a good stock of 45's elsewhere. We carry a large selection, usually over 100 titles including pop and country hits, and we fill special orders as well. Enough said?...We're now open until 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 p.m. on Friday, and 8 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday..We're continuing to expand our selection in many categories, notably folk, classical, religious, and some others. Let us know what your interests are, because what we carry is mostly up to you.

It's true!

Arbiter reveals real thing

Yes, it's true, President Farmhouse and Betty Bookstore say. "Although we only met a short time ago, we're sure it's the real thing."

Farmhouse revealed this fact to the Arbiter last week, and the Arbiter got the first exclusive photo.

"I feel just like a young girl again," Bookstore said. "It's just great."

Farmhouse and Bookstore met at a PTA meeting and it was love at first sight. "I will stay here with Farmhouse as long as possible," a glowing Bookstore admitted. "He is a marvelous man. It's obvious I am with him, but I am forbidden to talk."

A friend of Bookstore's told the Arbiter, "The last few times I saw her she talked of nothing but him; how attractive he is now that he's getting older and how he's a real woman's man."

Farmhouse billed and cooed with Bookstore over a cozy 3 hour lunch at an infamous restaurant while other diners sat goggle eyed.

A source close to Farmhouse commented, "I've never seen him so happy - and his wife so upset."

Food service accepts donations, gifts

Boise State Food Service has greatly acknowledged gifts of dissected frogs and rats donated by the Biology Department. Conservation Professor Milton Schmuck who initiated the contributions told the Arbiter "This program is statistically substantiated as an effective utilization of our limited natural resources. Especially in these times of global hunger it is senseless for us to be wasting valuable nutrients."

Besides being a delicious addition to the Saturday stew and Mystery Meat Loaf, Food Service officials believe costs can be reduced by up to 10%.

All of the meat donated by the Biology Department carries the Home Economic Department's seal of good house keeping.

Senator/Arts & Sciences

survey based on actual registration figures should be conducted to determine the number of married students on campus who need this service. I also wonder if such a center might be correlated with the School of Education to provide a laboratory setting and cut down on operational costs. I believe that student evaluations of faculty, currently in practice at such schools as the University of Oregon, are beneficial to both students and faculty alike.

* As a senior art student who is married and a veteran, I especially would like to represent the needs of these groups of students on campus, helping to assure that all students have equal representation. I also would like to see the needs of handicapped students represented in student government.

* I support the child care center, but do believe that a

* There is a great need for expansion of the liberal arts department, specifically the art department facilities. The number of art students has almost doubled since last year, and lack adequate working space and secure storage space. Even instructors have little room or office space.

Miracle diet to help you lose weight, proven successful

A new miracle diet guaranteed to make you lose those unwanted pounds has been revealed by Howard W. Belch, a recent graduate of the Boise State School of Health Science and Nutrition. "It's fool proof," Belch said. "It's constitutionally advantageous, symphonically sound and geochronometrically good. And it only takes a few minutes a day."

Belch said he came up with his revolutionary diet several years ago while he was a struggling ASBSU Senator, making only pennies a month. "This is all I could afford to eat."

On this diet, Belch says a dieter is supposed to lose 30 pounds in seven days or die trying. However, Belch warns, all meals should be eaten and no substitutions are allowed.

Monday's fare starts with weak tea for breakfast, with one bouillon cube in one half cup diluted water for lunch. Dinner is one pigeon thigh, with three ounces prune juice (to be gargled only).

Tuesday's diet includes scraped crumbs from burned toast for breakfast; one doughnut hole (without sugar) for lunch with one glass dehydrated water. Dinner is three grains cornmeal, boiled.

Wednesday starts off with shredded egg shell skin, lunch includes one half dozen poppy seeds and for dinner the dieter is allowed bee's knees and mosquito's knuckles sauteed in vinegar.

Thursday's breakfast is the boiled out stains of an old table cloth; lunch is the belly button of a navel orange, with a dinner of three eyes of an Irish potato (diced).

Friday's fare includes two lobster antennae for breakfast (but they must be small), lunch is one tall joint of a sea horse, with dinner being the typical fish, rotisserie broiled guppy filet.

Saturday morning starts off with four chopped banana seeds (make sure none of the actual fruit sticks to the seeds); lunch is a gourmet delight of broiled butterfly liver and dinner is jelly verterabrae a la centipede.

Sunday's breakfast is pickled hummingbird tongue; lunch is prime rib of tadpole and aroma of empty custard pie plate. Dinner is a small plate of tossed paprika and cloverleaf salad.

Belch says that a seven ounce glass of steam may be consumed on alternate days to assist in having something to blow off.

Amazing psychic predicts future

by Irma Wrongagain

The National ARMBITER again tapped the sources of its head psychic, Irma Wrongagain, to predict the important upcoming events for the coming year. Wrongagain has a track record of 95 percent correct predictions.

Among the amazing list or predictions she managed to render, is that red, white and blue will be dominant colors for the year 1976 and the Metropolitan Opera will not perform at the Special Events Center. Others in the astonishing list are:

Joe Namath will not accept an offer to coach the Broncos.

The Pope and the President of the Mormon church will not recognize birth control as an acceptable means of world population control.

Christa Bax will find something to do.

The State Board of Education will announce another board member - a high school graduate.

The Boise State Photo Bureau will learn what a camera is.

The Boise State ARMBITER will not learn how to spell.

The Boise State school of Business will be found to be financially insolvent.

The Boise State School of Buiness will set up a "Dialing for Dollars" program.

The Bronco statue will find a mate--the Tin Woodsman.

Fred Norman will buy the Morrison Center.

A cure will be found for apathy, but no one will care about it.

Gary Bermeosolo, BSU head of Veterans Affairs, will be drafted.

Trained chimpanzees will replace the Buildings and Grounds crew.

The Special Events Center will not sprout any more of those colorful little growths.

Howard Welsh will become Programs Board chairman and will sign such big name entertainment as Roy Rogers, Bishop Fulton Sheen and Chip and Dale for Pop Films.

Betty Brock will offer a color book of Boise State facilities which will sell for only $14.95. The Communications departments professors will hire a speech therapist to rid them of their lisps.

The ASBSU Treasurer will learn how to balance his checkbook.

It will be revealed that pot does not make you high--it's actually holding your breath that does it.

The right way to pour beer never changes. Since the dawn of organized brewing back in 800 A.D., brewers have urged discriminating drinkers to tilt straight into the head and not to tilted receptacle.

Although blatantly defiant of sacred celtic tradition, the original method has the meritorious advantage of producing a seal between the head and the drink itself, trapping the carbonation below. The beer doesn't get flat. The method is simple.

When it comes to pouring beer, the brewers were right from the beginning. When it came to making beer, so was Oly. Skill and ingenuity just can't be improved upon. Some things never change. Olympia never will.

Fireman saves stuffed poodle

Gerald Schultzheimer was awarded the Armbrister Good Guy of the Month Award for returning a stuffed poodle filled with money to its owner. On March 14, Mrs. Beatrice O'Henry, 72, was driven from her house by a fire which began in her kitchen. The fire began when the old wood burning stove that O'Henry used caught the wall behind it on fire. Neighbors of O'Henry saw smoke rising from the back of her house and went inside to bring her out.

When the fire department arrived, Gerald Schultzheimer being one of the firemen, the whole rear of the house was in flames. The firemen were afraid an oil tank on the back of the house would explode so they would not allow Mrs. O'Henry to enter the house to retrieve her belongings. Despite valiant efforts by firemen the oil tank exploded. The explosion blew half the house and part of the roof into the neighbors yard, and the resulting fire burnt the house to the ground.

Schultzheimer was injured when part of the roof landed on his head. While he was crawling out of the debris he found the stuffed poodle. Upon close examination of the poodle Schultzheimer discovered that it was full of paper money and old fire dollar gold pieces.

The poodle represented the entire life savings of Mrs. O'Henry. When Schultzheimer presented the poodle to Mrs. O'Henry she wept with joy, gave Schultzheimer a kiss on the cheek and wished him luck with the injuries he had received. She then emptied the poodle of all the money and presented the poodle to Schultzheimer as a remembrance, and a little something to keep him company while he was in the hospital.

Schultzheimer's injuries include a broken arm, leg, and ankle, a slipped disk in his back, and various lacerations about his head and torso.

Schultzheimer is expected to be in the hospital for two to three months. Anyone wishing to write Mr. Schultzheimer may do so by writing to Holy Miracle Hospital in Farmhampton, Utah.

CIA linked to Walt Disney

It was revealed in a press conference today that the CIA has been using Walt Disney cartoons to transmit messages to their operatives overseas.

Joe Sleuth talked to several reporters at his house in Sneaksville, Minnesota, and told of many of the methods used by the CIA to transmit messages to their agents around the world. Sleuth was the one time director of the message sending department of the CIA.

Some of the methods used by the CIA included disguises as clouds to drift over suspicious territory, hiding cameras in geese so they would take pictures as they migrated over foreign countries, and hiding secret messages in Walt Disney cartoons.

The messages transmitted in the cartoons would be disguised in sounds from the background, represented by characters in the cartoons, or the subject of the cartoon would be part of a prearranged code.

"Examples of the codes messages," said Sleuth, "would be any bird representing an airplane, or fish being submarines." Sleuth continued by giving examples of Disney film titles that were used as messages, 101 Dalmations really meant there were 101 missile sites around the city of Moscow, and Snow White and the 7 Dwarfs meant there are seven small military installations in the Antarctic.

When asked if any cartoons were used to transmit information about supposed CIA assassination plots, Sleuth replied, "The death of the Big Bad Wolf in the story The Three Little Pigs was a signal to begin operations on the assassination of Allende."

Sleuth went on to describe attempts by the CIA to hush up the trouble that occurred when Walt Disney found out that his cartoons were being used to transfer messages. But when Sleuth began describing events related to that a paper airplane flies in the window and landed on the table in front of Sleuth.

After the plane had landed a little tiny toy pistol rose from the cockpit and shot Sleuth. The CIA denied any involvement

EL PUEBLO SE LEVANTA

One third of the Puerto Rican people live in the United States. Most have come in search of the better life promised them in U.S. propaganda. Instead, they found slum housing, poor or mis-education, low-paying jobs and constantly rising unemployment. El Pueblo Se Levanta traces the growth of the Puerto Rican struggle by focusing on the development of the Young Lord's Party (now called the Puerto Rican Revolutionary Workers' Organization) during its first year of growth.

Student Control of Fees

In the past nine weeks of campaigning for the ASB executive offices, we have spoken to as many dorm groups, fraternities, sororities, and other organizations as we felt possible without collapsing from physical and mental fatigue. We spoke to classes also, but ran into problems with professors who were hesitant to allow candidates to take up class time. This has made it difficult to reach a great number of students who perhaps do not belong to campus organizations. However, we feel we have been honest, open and fair, when perhaps other candidates have not, and we have run our campaign to the best of our abilities. Following are some of our observations after speaking with various groups of students on campus:

Perhaps one of the best ways to incorporate Greek organizations on campus is to employ their help in recruiting students (Greek or not) who have the enthusiasm and the energy to put into student government.

There are several campus organizations whose members feel that one of the few effective means of accomplishing student-related goals is to put our energies into large group efforts. Rallies and the like can be powerful and influential when other avenues are closed, but it may be difficult to find enough people with a mutual interest and concern for any particular idea.

Dorm residents have been the most vocal about their objections to ASB spending on projects that perhaps will not benefit the majority of students. Perhaps more attention should be paid to the establishment of programs and activities that will put less emphasis on the "commuter campus" idea.

Our names are Lenny Hertling and Kim Silva. We seek the offices of ASB President and Vice-President, and we ask for your support.

Truth exclusive

by Jack Andruson

After months of intensive investigation, the amazing and astounding truths have been revealed about all the people you've wanted to hear something scandalous about! Watergate is nothing compared to what THE NATIONAL ARMBITER has uncovered. Imagine this! Shocking and incredibly unbelievable things famous people do.

Lots happening in San Francisco: one of the late President Kennedy's ex-lovers, socialite and trouble-maker Joan Lundburg Hitchcock (recently featured in our rival paper) was overheard at a party making up new tales about her latest romance with Presidential candidate Frank Church. Michael Douglas, star of "Streets" also at the party, dismissed her stories saying, "It's just a lot of free P.R."

SONGWRITER JIMMY WEBB GAGS AS MICHAEL DOUGLAS SCOFFS AT HITCHCOCKS CLAIM TO FAME

GOD DIGS ROCK&ROLL

We recently learned that Greg Allman and Cher Bono have visited Rome to discuss "problems" with the Pope. Said Allman when questioned about his first trip to the Vatican, "Paul is really concerned with the world situation, and has suggested staging a world benefit at the Vatican courtyard. Added Cher, "Like yeah, well, he's really liberal and agrees with me that Sonny is really a poor excuse for an Italian." Greg, Cher and His Holiness were allegedly discussing negotiations for the benefit, in which Allman's band and Yoko Ono will play "conceptual music," forever.

Douglas then departed to shoot some public service messages in favor of gun control.

WITH THE POPE

GREG & CHER GET THE ROYAL TOUR

Also in the Golden Gate city is one of the most controversial trails of all time, and our staff reporters were on the scene for a secret interview with Patty Hearst. The soft and meek Miss Hearst spoke on her captivity and plans for the future.

Wearing a modest peasant dress and ruby red slippers, she told the NATIONAL ARMBITER, "There's no place like home, there's no place like home." The trigger-happy brat and heiress to the Hearst empire appeared nervous and clicked her heels as she spoke.

JACKIE KEEPS AN EYE ON ALEX

Meanwhile in Washington, Ex-Laugh In-er Joanne Worley was striking up a quick romance with Russian writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn, in town for a job interview with the NATIONAL ENQUIRER. Jackie Onassis stopped by to see Solzhenitsyn at his hotel to see what Worley had that she didn't. Later the next day, she was reportedly seen with long time religious leader Guru Mahara Ji, who is in town recovering from a spanking given by his mother for "some silly nonsense about religion."

At the trial itself, Patty's father, Randolph Hearst was suffering from a nervous collapse and is using the aid of a large group of helium filled balloons to help him walk easily.

F. LEE BAILEY ---THE NEW PERRY MASON?

PATTY ---JUST BECAUSE I'M RICH

His wife Kathryn, also showing signs of mental stress and anguish, was having difficulty breathing and requested that the courtroom windows be opened wide. Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey was spotted lunching in dark corner with film-makers Francis Ford Coppola and Orsen Welles. When asked of his views on Patty's innocence and chances of walking away from the trial a free woman Welles said "Only the shadow knows. Coppola was heard mumbling about a rosebud.

Dr. Snot

Only one capable of helping me

Dear Dr. Snot,

I've been reading your column for several weeks now, along with Ann Landers, Dear Abby, Xaviera Hollander, Dr. Joyce Brothers and Dr. Hippocrates, and I feel you are the only one capable of helping me with my problem.

My problem is with my boyfriend. Everything was fine until he started working in a slaughter house in Nampa about three months ago. The day after he started, he brought home 30 feet of large intestine and began beating me with it, and then he tied me up with it. Now I go for a little sado-masochism once in a while, so this really blew me away, but didn't bother me that much. A few days later, on a Friday night, he came home from the "amusement park", as he calls it, and began to juggle eight hooves. It had been a long day, though, and besides, he is a real good juggler.

But things started getting real strange the other night. We were sitting at the supper table, he was mad about dinner, his steak wasn't rare enough. He got up and threw a five-gallon bucket of blood on me, and even put out the candles (which are made from a shrunken beef head). He's been throwing beef hearts at the paper boy, hung eyeballs over the rearview mirror, and even douched the baby. What do I do? He's even started to get funny ideas about me and his pet dog Fritz, and he keeps talking about limb transplants.

Please help me, I'm desperate.

Leslie Gore

Dear Gore,

Your problem is solved. This fellow doesn't need counseling, he needs revenge from you.

Give him some of his own medicine. Kill the pet dog, and take Fritz to the taxidermist's. After you get the stuffed canine back, set Fritz in front of the fireplace. You could really teach him a lesson if you cut your boyfriend's leg off, set it in front of him, and make a lamp out of it. There are countless things to do with this character. I suggest that you get my new book, "Sex and Four Pounds of Ground Round" by Leo T. Snot, BS, PhD.

Dr. Snot researches advice for readers who write to him.

Dear Dr. Snot,

If you don't work for Mental Health, I'll kill you!

Fritz

Dear Dr. Snot,

Isn't spring beautiful? I mean, look at the flowers outside, they're everywhere. Look at the honeysuckle in bloom. Aren't the tulips outrageous? The hills look like green clumps of velvet. The sun is warm and friendly. Your skin is like peach meat, your eye is like a cool mountain lake, full and wet. Your breath is like the Denver sewage treatment plant. You give me a rash, along with mono and hot flashes. Did I water my plants today?

Having Fun

Dear Fun,

I prescribe six parts gin and one part gasoline.

Dear Dr. Snot,

My boyfriend left his heart in San Francisco and a seagull ate it.

Tony

Dear Tony,

I know a paper boy with a few beef hearts, if that will help.

Dear Dr. Snot,

I went on a binge over spring break, just to mellow out over school, you know. Well, I started off by snorting down seven dimes of coke. I ate a jar of speed, smoked a ten-pound bag of gold, drank a case of blueberry brandy and finished off Sunday with a shot of ethyl chloride. I had a good time, but I have a problem. I can't remember my name or where I belong and I'm lost someplace in western Virginia. I'm 5'11" and weigh 103 pounds. I have long hair with half a beard.

I'm offering a reward to anyone who can help me.

Dear

Only if you tell me where you can get a coke for a dime.

Dear Dr. Snot,

If Harvard and Yale are in the Ivy League, what league is the University of Idaho in?

Anthony K.

Dear Mr. K,

How about the Sagebrush Conference.

Idaho's new obscenity law lifts great weight

by Duncan Idaho

RIGBY, ID.—This small progressive community is typical of many in Idaho since the passage of a new obscenity control law by the last session of the legislature. The people you pass on the streets are smiling and there is a general air of relief as if some great weight had been lifted from the citizens.

The new law, called by many the most important measure ever passed by an Idaho legislature, has been hailed on both the local and national scene. It regulates actions on or within any establishment requiring a retail beer license. But charging the State Liquor Board with enforcement of the people's morals, this clever law has attacked obscenity at its strong-hold—the bars and night clubs. Idaho, famous for its clean physical environment, can now boast of its equally clean moral environment.

Among those national organizations whose acronyms are household words, and have sent letters of support are: Christians United against Naughty Thoughts, Alliance for Suppression of Sex Hopeful of Less Eroticism, Federation Against Recreational Touching, Supporters of Cruel Repression of Eroticism Worldwide, Prudes Encouraging Control of Kissing and Exciting Relations, and Women Horrified of Really Enjoyable Sex.

This milestone in the battle against moral decay prohibits any establishment holding a beer license from "the employment or use of any person... while such person is unclothed or in such attire, costume or clothing as to expose to view any portion of the female breast below the top of the areola (nipple) or of any portion of the pubic hair, anus, cleft of the buttocks, vulva or genitals." It also prohibits the license holder from allowing "...any person on the licensed premises to touch, caress or fondle the breast, buttocks, anus or genitals of any other person."

Law enforcement personnel are enthusiastic of their support and enforcement of the law. One unnamed source within the Attorney General's Office stated "This is a far reaching law. It covers perverse acts both within and without the premises of a license holder. This protects the public from immorality as they walk through a parking lot and once they are inside. We have expanded our enforcement to include grocery stores as well as bars. We have several cases pending as a result of the rampant fondling and caressing found at all-night Circle K and Seven-11 stores." This same source provided some information on the now-famous case where a Boise man was evicted and a bar closed after an undercover agent found him exposing his genitals. "We think that we have the goods on this one. The law specifically prohibits public display of the private parts, and this man had repeatedly exposed himself in a public restroom." It was later mentioned that public masturbation charges had been dropped due to the short supply of evidence.

City and county officials reported equally good results. One Ada County spokesman reported that within the first two weeks of intensive enforcement over 4,900 violations had been reported. "These were mostly caressing violations. Just because people are married doesn't mean that they can expose the public to blatant displays of sexual desire." He continued "We had one clear-cut case where an agent found a woman with her hand in her husband's right-rear pants pocket. Naturally, they claimed that she had only been reaching for his wallet, but the facts were on our side." A detective for Boise city reported good results, but mentioned that one detective was injured as a result of undercover enforcement activities. It seems that he was stationed under the table of a downtown bar in order to observe fondling and/or masturbation violations. Some patrons came in and thinking that the table was unoccupied, sat down. When they discovered that someone was under their table, they mistook this good public servant for one of the perverts which it was his job to arrest. The officer was severely kicked before he was able to crawl from under the table. Happily, he will soon be released from St. Luke's hospital.

Idaho's nudest camps have also felt the impact of the new law. As one officer commented "Naturally, they are upset, but what can they expect when they

Famous Biblical rock discovered, could destroy world

A pet rock waiting to be packaged and shipped was accidentally hit with a 2X4, and within seven minutes the basement of the Pet Rock Manufacturing Firm was completely submerged in water! Scuba divers were called to the scene when a passing priest recognized the rock as being the one used by Moses "a long time ago." The divers worked hours to recover the rock and removed it to an undisclosed location in Nevada. Researchers and scientists are working around the clock to find a way to stop the rock from expelling 2200 gallons of water a minute. "We just can't believe it," stated Jaques Cousteau who is in charge of the research. "We believe that if we don't find any way to turn off the rock within 40 days, we will have to move it to another state to prevent turning Nevada into a gigantic swamp."

However, representatives for Howard Hughes were allegedly investigating the possibilities of using the rock to turn the desert into another Lake Tahoe and Boise Cascade was reportedly bidding on the construction of 26,000 condominiums which will sell for a reported cost of $90 to $150,000.

College student taken into outer space

His name is Waldo Q. Buttwarmer, he is a student at Boise State University majoring in Communication and on July 18, 1975 he was taken aboard an alien spacecraft.

Yes, it's true. A beam of green light came down from the sky and snatched up Waldo, to the amazement of his best friend John Flewelling. When asked by this reported what his reactions were, Flewelling said "I was amazed."

Buttwarmer was returned to the earth in about two hours.

He was in perfect health with only one small change in his physical appearance, he had no mouth.

But this newly aquired disability did not stop the diligent college student. Three months later Waldo is still a communication student at BSU now majoring in oral interpretation and doing quite well on the debate team also. Waldo will graduate this spring and plans to work for a local television station.

Russian News

BEATLES UPDATE Ring Starr became the 2nd Beatle to defect from the Capitol/Apple label by signing a deal putting his US releases on Atlantic. Meanwhile, authoritative sources are still saving up conflicting reports about that possible Beatles reunion concert, some saying "never", and others saying it's definitely on. Their hardasses probably don't even know for sure. What is for sure is a Paul McCartney/Vince US tour, as well as a new LP which might already be out as you read this. Meanwhile, the latest Rolling Stone chronicles separate lead bases involving John Lennon and George Harrison...for a debut band the Beatles sure don't lack for attention (including ours).

ODDS 'N' ENDS Jimmy Cash will headline a summer country music TV show for CBS. The Caplan & Lemire are also slated for a summer TV slot. Mike Bonin is scheduled to KGB's tour dates, presumably as a result of his public expressions of dissatisfaction with their "supergroup" concert. Statues King Dore covered stadium seats with Paul McCartney, Amy Murray, the Porter Steps, and the Hudson Bros. April 3. Personnel changes for Focus with replacements for Jan Akkema and Colin Allen. ### Former student leader is reduced to fish monger

Former student leader, Dave Ward, is shown here just one short year after a shattering defeat in his bid for election to ASBSU President. Memories and the title of vice-president emeritus are all that remain for this young man. It is truly remarkable and tragic how one who once enjoyed the good life could have been reduced to a lowly fish cutter. Gone are the days of a private office surrounded by pert lovely secretaries, generous expense accounts at elegant restaurants, plush clothing stores, flower shops, liquor dispensary, and Anna's massage. This man who once sat in a padded reclining naugahyde chair is now compelled to use an inverted five gallon can to rest his weary rear.

Reminiscing the old days, Ward says "It was the high point of my life, the best I'll ever do."

"I've never thought of avenging my opponent, but I have considered suicide, hanging myself with a large fillet of snapper. I've done all I could to pull myself out, I even asked Jesus for help but he didn't have time."

Ward says his social life is nowhere. My best friends are fish and the local tom cats in the alley where I live. I get an occasional nip of backwash from the near empty bottles of old winos."

In spite of Ward's low position, he still has his ambitions. "I want to run for president of the local fish club. I've got plans for many new programs, like how to bury a living cod, and crab hunting on your own body."

Commenting on life in general after the fall, Ward says "Have you ever felt like a public latrine?"

Hippie rescued by girl, Kool-aid

On February 25 at 2:35 p.m., little Suzy Parker was selling Kool-Aid on a corner in the North End of Boise Idaho. Suzy watched as a hippie with long brown hair and a moustache rode by. When with a jolt she turned to see a 53 red Chevy pickup slide around the corner. The hippie scrambled frantically to reach the curb before the Chevy turned him into paving material. He managed to avoid the pickup but fell when he reached the curb. And the Chevy sped off towards Hill Road.

The hippie did not get up so Suzy walked over to see if he was alright. The hippie was unconscious on the sidewalk but did not seem to be otherwise injured. Suzy remembered her first-aid and went to get some water the moisen the hippie's forehead. She returned to her Kool-Aid stand and picked up a paper towel and a glass of Kool-Aid. When she returned to the hippie she stood over his head and pored the Kool-Aid on his head.

The hippie moaned, and sat up shaking his head. He turned to Suzy and she said "That will be five cents, please." The hippie payed Suzy and picked up his bicycle and road off towards the Co-op.

John Steppe, Self-proclaimed Student Leader

Q. Why do you consider yourself a student leader?

A. Fred Norman told me I am a student leader.

Q. What personality traits and qualities make up a student leader?

A. The ability to tell someone something and have them believe it, whether it's true or not.

Q. Has being a student leader changed your life in any way?

A. Yes. My GPA has dropped from a 3.5 to . . . well, let's not talk about it.

Q. Has your life changed in any other way?

A. Yes. I've learned the intricacies of student politics; telling someone something and have them believe it, whether it's true or not.

Q. Why do we need student leaders?

A. Someone has to use the Senate Chambers.

Q. Do you think the experience of student leader will help you in the future?

A. Yes. I plan to use the experience in my field.

Q. What field is that?

A. I want to be a shepherd.

Q. What fringe benefits do you get by being a student leader?

A. I'm allowed to participate in ASB functions such as the First and Second Annual John Elliott-Bob Hoppie Appreciation Dinners.

Q. Other benefits?

A. I've gotten an ulcer compliments of ARA food service.

Q. Anything else?

A. I received an invitation to John Barnes' annual lobster feed. And of course I'm on a first name basis with Dyke Nally.

Q. What do you think of your fellow student leaders?

A. Which ones?

Q. What about ASB President Nate Kim?

A. I understand he sings "Tiny Bubbles" a lot.

Q. What do you think of ASB Vice-President Ron O'Halloran?

A. I think of Ron O'Halloran very little.

Q. What about ASB Treasurer Ron Buchanan?

A. I remember Ron Buchanan from school way back in the dark ages of 1969. He was a skinny baby-faced kid then. . . funny thing, he hasn't changed a bit.

Q. What do you think of our ASBSU Senators?

A. Which ones?

Q. Royanne Klein?

A. I would rate Royanne Klein right along side Mary Jane Jorgensen.

Q. What about Mary Jane Jorgensen?

A. I would rate Mary Jane Jorgensen right along side Royanne Klein.

Q. What do you think of Dave Wynkoop?

A. I think Dave Wynkoop ought to try out for spring football. Then the school could buy his body and he wouldn't have to worry about where his next meal is coming from.

Q. How about Howard Welsh?

A. I think Howard Welsh is a cross between Ralph Nader and Ben Casey.

Q. What do you think of Mike Hoffman?

A. I think Mike Hoffman is cute.

Q. James "Crash" Crawford?

A. I understand he sleeps with curlers in his hair.

Q. Lenny Hertling?

A. Lenny's been trying for eight years to uncurl his hair.

Q. Doug Gochnour?

A. What can you say about Doug Gochnour other than "gobble-gobble."

Q. Lyle Mosier?

A. How do you come down on Lyle Mosier without coming down on the state of Idaho?

Q. Sylvia Scribner?

A. Who is Sylvia Scribner?

Q. Scott Whipple?

A. What is a Scott Whipple?

Q. Rod Brown?

A. Rod's a good guy, but he couldn't pass a urine test.

Q. What do you think of Personnel Selection Chairperson Kim Silva?

A. Tee-hee.

Q. What about Arbiter editor Barb Bridwell?

A. You mean my boss?

Q. Yes.

A. No.

Would you like to encourage other students to get involved in student government?

A. I would advise those students who want to get involved to stand by, work your ass off, accomplish little, watch your grades drop, fight with your friends, get ulcers, headaches. . . etc. If this is your bag, join us.

HEADHUNTER™

HEADHUNTER clues have to be broken down. Rarely do they make sense taken as wholes. The "real" definition, the one actually sought, is almost always at the very beginning or very end of the clue. Constantly search for SYNONYMS for every word or phrase, however vague or far-fetched the connection, until the logical, illogical answer with the right number of letters emerges. The three main types of clues:

ANAGRAMS, often signaled by words like broken, scrambled, tangled, mad, sort of, perhaps, now becomes, crazy, stupid, new, changed—anything indicating disorder or rearrangement.

DOUBLE DEFINITIONS, as in "Game for a traveler (4)." = POLO.

HIDDEN WORDS, found in a word (or spanning words) in the clue and sometimes signaled by among, in, between, etc. Example: "In here, warden" A remuneration! (6) = REWARD.

Some clues use more than one of these construction methods.

(Clue words often are literal. "Embraces" can simply mean one word surrounding another; "that is" may indicate an "I" and an "e" in the answer. "short" may hint at an abbreviation, and so on. Punctuation in a clue has no bearing on its solution.)
